FROM CLASSROOM TO BOARDROOM

It's not often the knowledge of Harvard University comes to Wyndham, but Mambourin CEO Rohan Braddy can now count himself as one of the prestigious institution's students. Mr Braddy was awarded a fellowship by the Harvard Club of Victoria (HCV), allowing him to attend an extensive education program and study tour across the United States, with a focus on strategy in not-for-profit management.

Only two fellowships are awarded annually in Victoria, following a rigorous selection process, with the recipients joining 150 other CEOs from around the world to gain valuable skills and insight into the management and leadership of a community organisation.

"This was a wonderful opportunity," said Mr Braddy. "The study program was highly intensive but I learnt much that will help guide Mambourin's strategic direction and assist us to continue to be a leading provider of disability services."

On his return, Mr Braddy was invited to share his experiences at the HCV's AGM which was held in Queens' Hall at Parliament House last week.

"It was very daunting to be speaking in such an auspicious place," Mr Braddy said, "but great to have the opportunity to educate the audience about the challenges people with disabilities and their families face and how Mambourin works to empower them, which made it a very worthwhile experience."

"I would like to thank the HCV for the opportunity, as well as the wonderful staff of Mambourin who did an excellent job while I was away."

"I'm looking forward to putting my new skills into practice!"

Mambourin is a leading provider of education, training and employment services for people living with a disability.
